the medical grade difference

Prepare

Correct

Renew

Protect

The difference is in the concentration of our active ingredients in our products. Our medical grade products contain a much higher percentage of active ingredient, our homecare has been designed in the form of easy to prescribe homecare retail products and post/pre procedure kits for all skin types.

Professional in clinic facials make improvements not only to your skin but your well-being appearance, self confidence and esteem. Our professional products work in synergy with our homecare ranges. The importance of a treatment aftercare skin plan builds a clear path for your skin goals and seeing them through a skin journey to full skin health.

The importance of a medical grade homecare routine includes: maintaining results, maximum skin health, prevention from returning to old unhealthy skin habits, using incorrect products for the skin between treatment, Following the correct professional skin advice for realistic outcomes.

MediMD skincare professionals have been trained to know the correct homecare required for different skin types and conditions. Ultimately they know which ingredients work, which products have the most supporting scientific evidence and which products will deliver results long term in the treatment plan.

Lets keep our skin looking amazing after MediMD professional facials with the MediMD range of medical grade cosmetic homecare products.

cleansers & toners

Our active formulations are science based using vitamins, natural ingredients and no harsh chemicals.

Our cleanser formulations are low emulsification to prevent natural oils being stripped from the skin. Cleansing and toning is a vital part of maintaining optimum skin health.

active serums

Our science led active based serums contain concentrated formulas and clinically proven ingredients expertly selected to treat multiple skin concerns. Using the purest form of vitamin C water soluble L Ascorbic acid is proven in clinical studies to penetrate the epidermis due to its water solubility. Science has proved antioxidants help fight the free radicals that cause the ageing process.

A lack of hyaluronic acid in the extra cellular matrix begins to break down the structure and collagen network, however, our low molecular weight formula is proven to penetrate the dermis and reach the target tissue.

retinol 0.25% + 1% serum

Skin types: acne/ oily / ageing

Vitamin A / Retinol is an essential nutrient that supports skin and stimulates the production of new skin cells. One of the most scientifically backed ingredients in skin care and suitable for all skin types retinol is known for its ability to normalise and repair skin. Introducing retinol is essential for any skin struggling with acne, pigmentation, fine lines and wrinkles. Vitamin A is also an important antioxidant, helping to protect against the harmful free radicals that cause inflammation in our skin. It is this inflammation that often leads to unwanted skin disorders, fine lines and wrinkles and premature ageing. MediMD progressive skin system introduces Vitamin A (Retinol) to the skin, in stages. This staged approach often reduces the likelihood of dry, flaky skin often associated with Retinol use, so a low amount and slow build up approach is recommended. retinol 0.25% serum (retinyl palmitate)

exfoliating

Exfoliation removes dead skin cells from the outer layers of the skin.

It can be beneficial for removing dry or dull skin, increasing blood circulation, and brightening and improving skin's appearance.

Over exfoliation or use of harsh products like scrubs causes irritation, inflammation and disrupts the skin's natural barrier function.

hydraMED balm

Skin types: all

HydraMED balm combines active ingredients and oils to melt away daily grime and make-up, leaves the skin clean and luxuriously smooth, used during dermaplaning to provide a slip and aid exfoliation.

This multi tasking balm can be used for:

- The removal of make up
- Day to day cleansing.
- A hydrating mask
- Massage balm
- Dermaplaning balm.

enzyme peel mask

Skin types: all at home treatment

A peeling and resurfacing treatment of the skin based on natural enzymes. These enzymes include properties that gently but effectively breakdown the build up of dead skin and dissolve blockages. With calcium, kaolin and papaya extracts the mask helps target rough dry skin, blocked pores and blackheads, absorbing oil and toxins from the skin without irritation or dryness. Acting as a gentle cleanser it exfoliates and tones skin as it purges toxins through the pores. Encourage the skins natural exfoliation process. Loosens and removes dead skin cells, dissolves oily blockages, improves skin texture and tone, reduces pore size. Smooths the skins surface.

(20g)

activated charcoal polish

Skin types: all / oily

MediMD activated Charcoal polish exfoliator is a professional exfoliating polish to be used as part of the MediMD facial. This exfoliator can be used as a mask or a polish combining a cream with pumice stone and activated charcoal derived from coconut shells to help draw impurities from the skin, lift bacteria from the pores and reduces inflammation. Active Charcoal promotes a healthier complexion whilst protecting the natural lipid barrier. Expect purified pores, silky smooth and refined skin, and a more balanced complexion. Visibly reduces enlarged pores. Removes excess oil. Calms red skin.
